VI. Field visits

- Solid Waste Utilization Base at the Old Port of Shanghai and Chongming Eco-Island

The Solid Waste Utilization Base at the Old Port of Shanghai is the largest and most capable strategic base of waste disposal and utilization in Shanghai. They undertake 70% of the waste disposal in Shanghai, and with a total daily processing capacity of nearly 10,000 tons, constitute China's largest base for solid waste disposal and utilization, which make due contribution to addressing the aggravating problem of a "junk besieged city". The base will be built into China's largest garden-style, eco-integrated base for solid waste treatment and environmental protection advocacy.

- Chongming Island

As China's third largest island, Chongming Island is facing an unprecedented historical opportunity for development. Highly integrating the national strategy, Shanghai mission, and Chongming vision, the construction of the modern Chongming Eco-Island demonstrates profound characteristics of the times and far-reaching historical significance and provides the only way of scientific development of the island.
